What's New in Roubler?

At Roubler, we're continually enhancing our platform to help you manage your workforce more efficiently, improve employee engagement, and streamline your day-to-day operations. Here's what's new this month.

Shift Satisfaction Report

Gain valuable insight into employee sentiment.

Understanding how your employees feel about their shifts has never been easier. Our new Shift Satisfaction Report provides a visual overview of employee feedback, helping you identify trends and take proactive steps to improve workforce engagement.

The report displays a daily trend of positive and negative shift ratings, based on employee satisfaction surveys completed during the clock-out process.

Benefits

- Identify engagement trends across your workforce.
- Monitor employee satisfaction over time.
- Support better workforce planning and decision-making.

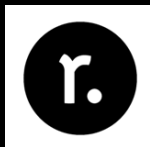

Where to find it

Reporting → Location → Shift Satisfaction

Did you know?

Shift Satisfaction Surveys can be enabled by navigating to:

Settings → Company Settings → Clocking

Employee Document Visibility

Greater transparency for your employees.

Employees can now view their signed template documents directly from the Roubler web application by navigating to the Documents section within their employee profile.

Previously, these documents were only accessible to managers. This enhancement gives employees easier access to important documentation whenever they need it.

Please note: Documents completed through the legacy onboarding process will remain visible only to managers.
